THE PROBLEM

AMBER HAD

THE SAME PROBLEM.

- Rejected. Multiple times.
- Even worked with GoHighLevel experts.
- Still no approval.

Hi Ramzan, I am having the same issue as Noah did with Go High Level A2P/10DLC. We have been rejected multiple times. We have used Go High Level people to help and still get rejected. The issues are in our Opt-Out and our messages.

I need you to review our website and our submission in Go High Level Trust Center for A2P/10DLC.

Can you help?

So she came to FiftyDevs.

THE RESULT

"RAMZAN ABSOLUTELY
DELIVERED ON WHAT HE PROMISED."

— Amber, Cognitutor ★★★★★

Two A2P approvals. Zero guesswork.

We hired Ramzan Zahoor of FiftyDevs to help us get our A2P registration approved within GoHighLevel after more than five unsuccessful attempts—even after working directly with GoHighLevel experts. From the beginning, Ramzan demonstrated confidence in the process and was committed to helping us achieve approval.

The start of the project was a little rocky due to some communication challenges, particularly around project scope, pricing, and expectations. I would recommend asking all of your questions upfront and ensuring everything is clearly defined before the project begins. Doing so will help prevent confusion and create a smoother experience for both parties.

That said, Ramzan absolutely delivered on what he promised. He successfully handled two separate A2P registrations for us. The first was approved on the first submission, and while the second was more complex and required a second submission, it was ultimately approved as well. Having someone who understands the process took a tremendous amount of stress off our team and saved us significant time and frustration. Overall, I would recommend Ramzan to anyone looking for experienced help with A2P approvals and would work with him again in the future.

Thank you so much, Amber! ❤️

A2P APPROVAL SHOULDN'T BE A

$1,800 GUESSING GAME.

We handle A2P 10DLC approvals for a fraction of what most people charge — typically $200–$350. Flat. No guessing.

We reviewed. We fixed it. We got it approved.
That's the whole job.
